

Two Accidents Leave 1 Dead, Eight Injured

Two accidents last night involving only one vehicle each resulted in one man being killed and eight other persons injured, none believed critical.

About 9:30 p.m. on Highway 4, a mile north of Washington, a pulpwood truck driven by Joe Louis Conway, 26 year old Negro, went out of control, into a ditch and overturned onto another truck parked in a yard.

Conway was pinned underneath the truck for some time before the vehicle could be lifted. He died on the operating table in a Hope hospital about an hour later. His brother, Marvin Conway, and Eddie Gilliam, Negro, all of the Washington area, suffered lacerations and bruises but were not considered seriously injured. However both remain in a local hospital for treatment.

Earlier at 8:30 p.m. some five miles north of Ozan, in the same area, a car carrying six youths from Ozan went out of control on a rural gravel road and crashed into a tree. All of the youths were injured but none were believed critical.

Police listed them as Johnny Fincher Jr., 15; Dale Dougan, 14; Howard Green, 15; Jack Dougan, 12; Frank Fincher, 17, the driver and Katie McKillip, 12.

Perhaps the most seriously injured was the driver, Frank Fincher, who sustained lacerations, a hip and arm injury. Dale Dougan suffered severe head lacerations and Howard Green had bruises and cuts. The others suffered minor cuts and bruises.

All of the injured were brought to local hospitals by Oakcrest and Herndon - Cornelius ambulances. Investigating officers were State Troopers W. T. Brewster and Dwight Pankey, Sheriff Jimmie Griffin, Deputy Herbert Griffin and City Police Chief Jack Brown.

Opposition to Urban Renewal

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Fifty Fort Smith residents who oppose a planned urban renewal project formed a "Good Government League" Thursday night in a meeting at the courthouse and voted to try to bring urban renewal to a citywide vote.

They will circulate petitions, in an attempt to get 1,470 names and bring the proposal to a public vote late this month or early in January.

Paul Schlaf was named permanent chairman of the group. Urban renewal already has been approved by the city government and work is to begin on the project Feb. 1. R. A. Young, chairman of the Urban Renewal Agency, said a vote would set the project back 90 to 100 days, even if the people approved it.

Student Charged in Drug Sales

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A 17-year-old University of Arkansas freshman was arrested Wednesday for selling the drug amphetamine at the school.

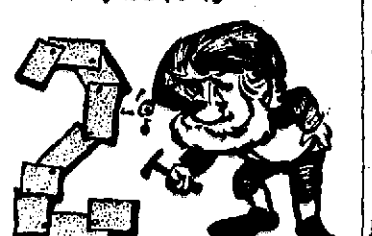

Police identified him as Wilkins Thompson III of Helena. He was charged with the misdemeanor and later released on $500 bond.

Sheriff Hal Brogdon said amphetamine is of the barbiturate family, and is not a narcotic. The sheriff said Thompson was arrested for violation of Act 415, passed last year by the legislature. The act prohibits selling amphetamine and other drugs except by prescription and by authorized persons.

State Crops Are Worth $537 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Total value of principal crops grown in Arkansas in 1962 was $537 million, up about 3.5 per cent from the 1961 valuation of $519 million, the Crop Reporting Service of the Agriculture Department said today.

The year-end summary attributed the higher crop value primarily to substantially larger rice and soybean crops than a year earlier. Cotton production was slightly less than in 1961.

Most 1962 crop prices averaged above the previous year except cotton lint and cottonseed.

The index of crop production in 1962 was four per cent above 1961 and 21 per cent above the 1951-60 average. The 1962 crop output ranked second, being exceeded only in 1959.

On the whole, this was a good crop year despite a late spring and hot, dry weather in May, the report said. Killing frosts came later in the season than usual, enabling late developing soybeans to mature.

Most crops made good yields in 1962 but only rice set a new record high. Production per acre for this crop at 3,775 pounds is 275 pounds above the previous record yield set in 1961.

Harvested acreage of principal crops in 1962 totaled 5,736,000 acres. This is 80,000 acres more than last year and 292,000 acres above the 1951-60 average. Increased acreages of soybeans and rice more than offset fewer acres harvested for most other crops.

Cotton ranked first in value of production with lint and seed worth $263 million or 49 per cent of the 1962 total crop. Soybeans ranked second with a value of $137 million. Rice was third with $84 million, largest in the nation. Hay was valued at $19 million. Corn and wheat were next with a value of $8 million and $6 million, respectively.

Commercial vegetable crops, including strawberries, grown in Arkansas for fresh market and processing, were valued at $7,254,000, down 27 per cent from the 1961 estimate of $9,910,000.

Strawberries and spinach for processing showed the greatest decline in value, although the fresh market crops of sweet corn, tomatoes and watermelons, were also worth less in 1962 than in 1961.

Springdale Buys Industrial Tract

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) — The Springdale Chamber of Commerce announced Thursday the purchase of a 53-acre tract of land to be developed as an industrial district for the city.

The land is located in north Springdale adjoining a railroad. Phil Phillips, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said the purchase will put Springdale in a better competitive position to attract new industry.

The land was purchased from Skelton Brothers Inc.

Oil Man Dies in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Ralph E. Cargill, 62, president-elect of Gulf States Utilities Co., died Thursday at New Orleans International Airport while waiting to board an airliner to Houston, Tex. Cargill, a resident of Beaumont, Tex., headquarters for the Texas-Louisiana utility, had been with the Gulf States since 1925. He was born in Ligermore Falls, Maine.

Holiday for Millions Start Today

CHICAGO (AP) — For millions of Americans, the Christmas holiday begins today with the windup of office and factory chores.

Christmas is next Tuesday and the pattern for a majority of workers was a four-day holiday including the weekend and Monday when little commercial activity is expected, and ending at the close of Christmas Day.

The long weekend is expected to include holiday trips for countless families bent on joining reunions, and thereby, the National Safety Council says hangs an unusual traffic accident peril.

With heavy highway travel, unfavorable winter driving conditions in many areas, and thousands of relaxed and inept drivers on the roads, the council said, traffic fatalities are likely to run between 650 and 750.

The estimate covers a 102-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) tonight until midnight Tuesday. The council also estimated that between 27,000 and 33,000 persons will suffer disabling injuries during the period.

The safety council's spread of 100 in its holiday projection of fatalities covers a range including the all-time traffic death toll for any holiday 706 during the four-day Christmas of 1956. The lowest four-day Christmas tolls since World War II was 535 during Christmas weekend of 1951. In last year's three-day holiday, there were 524 traffic fatalities.

The safety council said a non-holiday weekend at this time of year could be expected to account for 170 traffic deaths. But an Associated Press count of highway fatalities in the 102-hour period from 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 7 to midnight Tuesday, Dec. 11, showed 371 deaths.

The highest over-all fatality count for a Christmas was 884 in 1956. The record death toll in all types of accidents in 1924, set in the fourth of July holiday period last year.

Coaches at NLR Has Resigned

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The North Little Rock School Board accepted the resignations of two coaches Thursday night and a member said the board was "formulating plans on how to react to unauthorized political activity."

The resignations came from Jimmy Albright, head coach at North Little Rock High since 1957, and Luther C. Young Jr., head coach at Ridgeway Junior High. Young said he got the impression in a meeting Tuesday with Supt. F. B. Wright that he could either resign or his contract would not be renewed. His resignation is effective Jan. 1.

Albright's resignation, offered Nov. 25, was effective then. There was no indication he was involved in political activity. Wright said the resignations were "personal things" and he could not comment on them.

The board member who commented on a political activity policy was Branch T. Fields. He said any school staff member who participated in the last school election did so without authorization. Young said he was a member of the Committee For Better North Little Rock Schools which supported three candidates who opposed three incumbents in Dec. 4 election. The incumbents

Prisoners to Be Released for Ransom

By GEORGE ARFELD

HAVANA (AP) — A Christmas gift of freedom today awaited 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners after 20 months of captivity. The Castro government agreed Friday to release them in exchange for medicine and food.

The men will be freed on or before Christmas, attorney James B. Donovan of New York, chief negotiator for the prisoners' families, announced. Donovan broke the news himself to some prisoners held in Havana's Principe Castle, and word of their long-awaited freedom also was relayed to other captives held on the Isle of Pines off southwest Cuba.

In Washington, Red Cross officials reported the first prisoners are expected to arrive in Miami Sunday. But Havana Radio said they would not be freed until Monday. Red Cross officials said they are highly optimistic that the entire prisoner group will be back among their friends and relatives by Christmas. Some 20,000 relatives of the captives live in Miami.

A mother of one of the prisoners said the men in Principe Prison had a feast of homemade delicacies Friday. She said it was the first time in more than six months that parcels had been allowed to go through to the prisoners.

The freighter S. S. African Pilot was expected to sail for Havana from Port Everglades, Fla., today with some of the supplies requested by Prime Minister Fidel Castro as the price for the release of the prisoners. The medicines were donated by U.S. drug manufacturers.

The Cuban government originally demanded $62 million as a ransom. The value of the food and medicine agreed on is estimated at $53 million. The pact specifies the prisoners will be freed when 20 per cent of the supplies are in Cuban hands.

The Red Cross said it is expected to take a few months to get the full amount of the supplies that Castro wants.

A joint announcement in Washington by Gen. Lusius Clay, chairman of the Cuban Families Advisory Committee, and E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the American Red Cross, said the prisoners will be flown to Miami in a four-plane shuttle. The first Pan-American World Airways plane is scheduled to leave Miami for Havana at 6 a.m. Sunday.

The shuttle planes will be loaded with drugs and food on their runs to Havana. Red Cross officials called the project the largest operation ever undertaken by the organization in the handling of relief supplies to meet human suffering. More than 100 U.S. manufacturers contributed or pledged food and drugs to the program.

Asks Change in Taxes for Industry

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission urged the Legislative Council's Labor and Industry Committee Thursday to make two changes in personal property tax laws to benefit industry.

The committee went along with William P. Rock, AIDC director, on a proposal to sponsor an amendment to exempt intangible property, such as stock, bonds and bank accounts, from the tax. But it gave a cool reception to his suggestion that it should eliminate the tax on industrial and farm machinery, raw materials and finished products.

Rock plugged especially hard for the second proposal. He said it would benefit industry more than any other single law change. Rock said industrialists want a clearer picture of the state's taxing law. He said intangible property is not now assessed for taxation although the constitution says it may be.

The property tax is assessed and collected by the counties for benefit of county and city governments and school districts. A 1958 amendment revoked the state's right to levy a property tax.

The amendment which the committee will pass on to the full council, probably today also would authorize the legislature to levy some new kind of tax on intangible property and it would permit division of other types of property into classes for taxation at different rates.

Farm Bureau Backing Mills

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Farm Bureau leaders met Wednesday with Rep. Wilbur Mills and backed him on his stand for reduced federal spending before a tax cut.

Waldo Frasier of Little Rock, bureau executive vice president, told the members attending the Searcy meeting that the need for a cut in federal taxes is well established but the federal budget deficit and the mounting national debt make it imperative that a tax reduction be accompanied by reduced federal spending.

Mills, as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, contended that any 1963 bill to reduce income taxes should include revenue producing reforms that would recapture most of the lost revenue.

Assembly in Closed Door Conference

By TOM HOGGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly closed the door just after midnight on a session overshadowed by the threat of nuclear war over Cuba and an undeclared war between India and Red China.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet chief delegate Valerian A. Zorin called news conferences today to deliver post-mortems on the session where offstage action often stole the spotlight from the debate.

In the final hours before adjournment the 110-nation forum abolished its one-man watchdog mission for Hungary, a move which will eliminate the annual report on conditions in the Soviet satellite and probably shelve debate indefinitely on that cold war item.

The assembly recognized the revolutionary republican government of Yemen and unseated the rival royalist delegation. The vote was 64-4 with 23 nations abstaining.

The United States dropped its controversial plan for U.N. inspection of conditions in the Portuguese colony of Angola after African and Asian delegates protested that the plan might weaken an earlier assembly call for sanctions against Portugal.

The assembly also:

Authorized Secretary-General U. Thant to spend up to $10 million a month in the Congo and $1.58 million in the Middle East to keep forces in the field until June 30. It also gave him authority to call a special session of the assembly next spring to deal with the grave Congo finance problem.

Extended for two more years the life of the U.N. Works and Relief Agency for Palestine refugees.

Noted a report from the 17-nation disarmament committee that its general negotiations had failed to produce an agreement on a nuclear test ban to take effect by Jan. 1.

Wading through the heaviest agenda in its history, the assembly wound up a day ahead of its deadline. This was a triumph for assembly President Muhammad Zafrulla Khan of Pakistan, who rode herd on long-winded speakers and tardy delegates all through the session.

Delegates expressed belief that the debates were shorter and contained less heat than usual because of the sobering effect of the Cuban crisis.

The India-China war was never brought before the assembly or the Security Council officially, but it was much on the minds of the delegates.

A highlight of the session was the election of Thant as full secretary-general for four years following the Soviet Union's decision to shelve its troika demand that the United Nations be run by a three-man executive.

Punchboards Have to Have U.S. Stamp

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service said Thursday that Arkansas businesses cannot operate punchboards or similar gaming devices for profit without a $50 federal wagering stamp.

The IRS said it believed some Arkansas businesses are violating the regulation. Selling chances on a punchboard from which the proceeds go to a non-profit organization is exempt from the regulation, IRS said, but each employee who sells chances for profit must have a wagering stamp.

GRAVEYARD OF MONSTERS—Big Bone Lick state park in northern Kentucky is yielding to archeologists the remains of countless prehistoric animals trapped and preserved in a great natural quagmire formed by vast mineral springs. Mastodon, mammoth, gigantic three-toed sloths, Arctic elephants and the Bison Antiquus—all are being uncovered. Typical digging site is illustrated. The deeper scientists dig, the older the form of animal—a vertical timetable of extinct animal life. Kentucky is erecting a museum in the park to house bones, fossils and artifacts unearthed.

Here Is Air Mail Letter From the North Pole Reprinted in Its Entirety

By MARY ANITA LASETER

An Air Mail letter arrived at our desk FROM the North Pole this week and we reprint it here in its entirety.

Dear Boys and Girls,
For many years you have written me letters just before Christmas and told me what you wanted me to pack into my extra large sleigh and bring to you. I do my best to get you what you want, so you probably know I have gotten your letters. But I've never actually written you and said I appreciate your mail.

Those people in post offices around the world work hard to see that your letters are delivered. Maybe you've wondered how I read the letters boys and girls in other lands write. Well, that is when my smart little elves are a great big help.

At our North Pole workshop we have helpers who speak many languages, and there is always SOMEONE who can read your letter and tell me what you want.

I hope you understand why I can't bring everything you ask for every time. I would really like to, but sometimes there are shortages even here. (You've heard the grownups use that word, I'm sure.) If we don't count right the number of little girls in the world, we don't make the right number of dolls to go around. Or the same thing could happen with boys and cowboy suits.

In that case, here's hoping you like what I do bring. That reminds me. It's nearly time to start packing my bag and loading my sleigh and oh, yes! I must check to see if Rudolph's nose is still bright enough to show me the way to your house.

Don't forget to go to sleep early on Christmas Eve. I would like to meet you, but I am not supposed to when I deliver presents. That is one of the rules. I can't stop at your house until you are sound asleep. But remember, I send Merry Christmas to all and To all a Good Night.

Love,
Santa Claus

Trials Postponed for Jailbreakers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Trials for William Lee and Rudolph Behr, charged in connection with an attempted break from the Pulaski County jail last June 14, were postponed in Pulaski Circuit Court Thursday.

Judge William J. Kirby said he would set a new trial date for Lee on Jan. 7. He scheduled Behr's trial for Jan. 18. Both men waived jury trials.

Behr and Lee are charged with assault with intent to kill. Police said they smuggled a gun to three women prisoners who shot jailer Jesse Anderson. He recovered.

Dianne Lambert, 19, identified by police as the prisoner who pulled the trigger, is scheduled for trial of the escape charges Dec. 26. She now is serving a three-year prison term for grand larceny.

The other two prisoners, Carole Marie Pickett and Betty Childress, both teen-agers, pleaded guilty to assault and received three-year prison sentences.

Opposition to Polaris Deal in Britain

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP) — The agreement between Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Kennedy to provide Britain with Polaris missiles in place of Skybolt brought a wave of criticism from right and left today.

It threatened to produce the biggest and most bitter defense row since the war.

The opposition Labor party was reported planning to mount a major attack on the government. It will oppose the deal on the grounds that it is too late, too costly and that the nuclear deterrent had better be left in the hands of one power, the United States.

A furious onslaught was also expected from some right-wing rank-and-file members of Macmillan's ruling Conservative party when he reports back to the House of Commons next month.

As they prepared to disperse for the Christmas recess there were many angry accusations that Macmillan had bartered away Britain's nuclear independence and he was coming back empty-handed.

The Laborite Daily Herald splashed its report of the Polaris deal across its front page under the bold heading: "Macmillan's Surrender."

A smaller heading said: "Kennedy wins again." The Daily Express, independent but leaning to the right, described Macmillan's deal with Kennedy as "The Sell-out" in a banner across its front page. It called it the end of Britain as an effective nuclear power.

The left-leaning Daily Mirror said Macmillan returns well aware that he faces his biggest crisis since he became prime minister.

Macmillan will find himself in the position of a man trying to juggle several hot potatoes at the same time.

He will have to justify the switch from Skybolt to Polaris while demonstrating that Britain can afford the huge sums needed to build Polaris-carrying submarines and the Polaris warheads without weakening the country's conventional forces or raising taxation to new high levels.

He will also face the problem of demonstrating that the millions spent already on special planes to carry Skybolt will not be completely wasted now that there will be no Skybolt for them to carry.

$200 Million Released to Create Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has released nearly $200 million to step up job-creating public works projects.

The allocation announced Thursday by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges was Kennedy's second under an accelerated public works program approved by the outgoing Congress.

Congress authorized $900 million program and appropriated $400 million for use at once.

Kennedy released 165 million of the public works money Oct. 24. Hodges said $119.1 million worth of state and local public works, and $42.9 million in federal projects financed under that allocation are producing 230,000 man-months of employment on 861 projects.

"Based on our experience in the initial allocation, this second allocation should generate an additional 280,000 man-months of direct useful work," he said.

Under Kennedy's second allocation, $147 million will be used for state and local projects, and $50 million for federal projects in sections of the country which have high unemployment rates.

Snow, Rain in State Likely

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow flurries were expected in north Arkansas today in the wake of a weak cold front that pushed in from Missouri Thursday.

The snow was not expected to stick but temperatures in northwest and northeast Arkansas were expected to plunge into the 20s tonight.

Central Arkansas: Considerable cloudiness and colder this afternoon and tonight with a chance of light rain or drizzle. Cloudy to partly cloudy with little change in temperature Saturday. Cloudy to partly cloudy Sunday with little change in temperature. High today 40s. Low tonight near freezing. High Saturday mid 40s to 50.

Northwest Arkansas: Cloudy with occasional rain and drizzle and cold this afternoon with a few snow flurries in the north portion. High today 32-36. Cloudy and continued cold tonight. Low 25-30. Partly cloudy and not so cold Saturday. High Saturday 44-52. Cloudy and colder Sunday.

Northeast Arkansas: Cloudy with occasional drizzle this afternoon and tonight with a chance of snow flurries mostly in the north portion tonight. Mostly cloudy Saturday. High today 34-40. Low tonight 28-34. High Saturday 38-45. Rain likely and turning colder Sunday.

Southwest Arkansas: Cloudy with some light drizzle this afternoon. High 40-45. Mostly cloudy tonight and Saturday. Colder tonight with lows 28-34. High Saturday 48-55. Considerable cloudiness and cold Sunday.

Southeast Arkansas: Cloudy with occasional light rain or drizzle and turning cooler this afternoon and early tonight. Low tonight 22-30. High Saturday 46-52. Considerable cloudiness and cold Sunday.

New Law May Change Site

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Secretary of State Mrs. Nancy Hall told a Legislative Council Committee that a law may be amended in the 1963 legislature to allow the new state revenue building to be constructed off the state Capitol grounds.

Mrs. Hall was asked at a meeting of the council's Committee on Roads and Highways for the status of work on the new building.

Mrs. Hall, who will become state treasurer after the first of the year, said she didn't think anything would be done until after the legislature begins work Jan. 14.

She said the law authorizing construction of the building specifies that it be built on the capitol grounds. But there is no room, she said, so the bill may be changed.

The committee was discussing the parking situation at the capitol. It decided to study the possibility of reducing the size of the mall on each end of the capitol grounds and to the rear to see if more room for cars could be made.

Charges Two With Castro Deals

JACKSON Miss. (AP) — City police arrested today three men they said were attempting to sell Nike missile blueprints to a Cuban agent for Fidel Castro.

Officers said the blueprints were stolen from the Vickers plant here which manufactures parts for various missiles and military and civilian aircraft.

The men were identified as Homer Lee Young 45; James W. Causey Jr., 22; and Anthony M. Whitehead, 20, a Vickers employee.

Police said the three, who asked $600,000 for the blueprints, were charged with grand larceny.

The FBI said the group tried to sell the blueprints to a former Cuban resident who now lives in Jackson.

The Cuban, who was not identified, reported the attempt to the FBI and "went along" with the men.

The FBI handed its evidence over to city officials for prosecution. The Justice Department held there was no violation of federal espionage laws.

Reds Mutter Over Missiles in Britain

By JAMES MARLOW H Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — A whole new era of bickering, and Moscow muttering, opens if the United States gives Britain Polaris missiles that can be fired from ocean depths to targets hundreds of miles away.

Reports from the Bahamas said President Kennedy, meeting there with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, was near agreement on granting the missiles — if they become part of a NATO nuclear striking force.

Such agreement, if reached in the meeting's windup today, would be new. But the idea isn't. Kennedy suggested it just a few months after taking office in 1961.

This country's European NATO partners have been edgy over the arrangement made so far for the use of nuclear weapons to defend Europe in case of attack: the United States has the weapons and controls them.

This gives Washington full and final say on whether the weapons would be used at all. Britain and France have been determined to build their own nuclear force. This can be stretched.

If a whole bunch of the NATO partners eventually had their own nuclear weapons — and individual possession of them and say-so on their use — the danger of nuclear war, brought on perhaps irresponsibly, is increased.

There is an alternative: a nuclear force made part of NATO with the 15 member nations — including the United States — having a say on how and when to use them.

This is the kind of arrangement, according to the reports from the Bahamas, Kennedy seemed to have in mind in talking with Macmillan. But he has had it in mind more than a year and a half.

Kennedy, talking to the Canadian Parliament May 17, 1961, said the United States would commit to the "NATO command area five — and subsequently still more — Polaris atomic-missile submarines, subject to any agreed NATO guidelines on their control and use."

And he added: "Beyond this we look to the possibility of eventually establishing a NATO sea-borne missile force which would be truly multilateral in ownership and control, if this should be desired and found feasible."

Just this week in a televised discussion with three reporters, shortly before he left for the Bahamas, Kennedy said: "If the French want to become a nuclear power that is their decision. The question is whether the United States should join in helping make France a nuclear power, then Italy, then West Germany, then Belgium."

"How does that produce security when you have (perhaps) 30 nuclear powers who may fire their weapons off under different conditions? That isn't in our interest, or in the interest of peace, or the interest of Western Europe."

"Why duplicate what we have already done, and are doing in Western Europe, as long as our guarantees are good?"

Only last week at the big December meeting of the NATO Council in Paris, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara made this offer: to help Western Europe build a nuclear force of its own if the Europeans themselves can work out multinational political control and share the enormous costs.

NATO Council sources said the initial reaction from other foreign ministers was cool. While France and Britain are big enough to build their own nuclear forces, others said their governments couldn't stand the expense.

If this country gave Britain Polaris missiles before some joint NATO control of them was established, France and probably other Allies would be irritated. When they get irritated they argue.

And what would be Soviet Premier Khrushchev's reaction? It's a safe bet he'd scream. Last July he told visiting American editors he hadn't discussed with Moscow's Communist allies anywhere the question of what countries can have nuclear arms. He probably won't, either.

He'd hardly give them to Red China, which has been denouncing him and may become the Soviet Union's greatest enemy and menace. Nor is he likely to consider giving them to Soviet satellites in Europe. He doesn't hate to give them anything.

The announcement of a Kennedy-Macmillan agreement would start the rumpus.

Soviets are expected to make a play that they are living up to the spirit of a United Nations resolution calling for a halt in all nuclear testing by Jan. 1.

This could be a telling propaganda point from the Soviet side since it would require the Western powers to explain in detail the much more complex reasons for avoiding such a moratorium.

WILL A DECEMBER-MAY MARRIAGE WORK?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: What chance for happiness could a fellow of 38 have if married to a high school senior of 18? Depends upon the people, I imagine.

I operate a business and the young lady is a friend of one of my employees. She appears mature, charming and sincere. I have only spoken to her four or five times as I must remember my position and age.

Realizing this, I hesitate to show any obvious interest in her until I can get some advice as to whether or not such an association would be wise. Are there many such relationships today, and if culminating in marriage, what would the chances for success be with such a disparity in years?

About myself — I divorced my wife of six years last winter. She has a Jekyll and Hyde personality and knows it — and therefore agreed to part. But we're still friendly.

I currently go with a very nice girl of 32 (my wife was 33), who teaches school. However, we're not in love. I am a responsible, mature individual who has only the highest regard for all women. I believe in marriage and hope to try it again when I find the right girl. It wasn't my fault that my first marriage went wrong. My ex-wife says I was a good husband so perhaps I'll have better luck the second time around. Would appreciate your thinking on my problem. —Lonely

Dear Lonely: It all depends upon whether you can make marriage attractive enough for the girl. Many December and May romances have had happy endings. It's up to the individual.

One thing worries me: your reluctance to take a chance. That would indicate you're not in love. If this is true, go slow.

Dear Helen: This is addressed to those wives who complain that husbands and in-laws gang up against them. I was making more money than my husband when we married and, even though holding down a job, kept a better home than his mother or married sisters.

My money helped buy the two houses which he and they have vainly tried to wrest from me. Finally, I divorced (much against my religion), took our two teen boys and kept on working.

Six years later my husband talked me into remarrying and we had another fine little boy. I thought when baby came, things would be better. Instead, they were worse. Six weeks after its arrival, he beat me up, locked me out and called the police. They took him, not me, into custody. One harrowing incident followed.

Ex-Senator Is in a Coma

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Former Sen. Theodore Francis Green remained in a coma and on the danger list at Jane Brown Hospital today. Hospital officials said his condition was slightly improved.

Green, 95, oldest member ever to serve in the U.S. Senate, was admitted to the hospital Wednesday after being stricken at his home.

His physician, Dr. Constantine S. Georas, said the former senator suffered a series of slight shocks, complicated by a pulmonary infection.

After serving in the Senate for 24 years, Green did not run for re-election in 1960.

Negro Couple Burns to Death

PARKIN, Ark. (AP) — A Negro couple burned to death in their frame home today when it was destroyed by fire.

They were Booker T. Gamble, 57, and his 43-year-old wife. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Their 17-year-old son, Booker Jr., was away from the house looking for work and a 6-year-old daughter had gone to school at the time the fire broke out.

Highlights in TV Will Change Soon

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Christmas spirit, in its diverse aspects, will be reflected on the nation's television screens over the holiday period. Then, in mid-week, the theme will switch abruptly to New Year celebrations.

Tonight, for instance, "Sing Along With Mitch" (NBC, 8:30-9:30 EST) will be a repeat of last season's Yuletide show emphasizing traditional tunes.

On Sunday, CBS will start a day devoted to Christmas themes at 10 a.m. with an hour-long program of special music. ABC, at 1:30 p.m. will present an hour-long drama, "The Rag Tent," which is the Christmas story told in terms of a modern migrant worker and his family.

NBC will, for the 13th time, repeat Gian Carlo Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors," with the NBC opera company. That evening there is also a Christmas show on the Telephone Hour, NBC, 10-11 with Florence Henderson and Earl Wrightson among the vocalists.

Bing Crosby's holiday special co-starring Mary Martin, will be seen Christmas Eve on ABC (10-11).

At 11:15 p.m. Monday night, all three networks turn to religious or religious music programs. ABC will broadcast services from the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York. At midnight, NBC will broadcast the mass from St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York, and ABC, the mass from the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington.

CBS will broadcast services from Christ Church Methodist in New York City.

Christmas morning services (11-12 n.) from Protestant Episcopal Washington Cathedral will be carried by NBC.

On Wednesday CBS will present its review of the year's news events with many of its correspondents present and Eric Sevareid as moderator (7:30-9 p.m.).

Squabble Over Tax Free Liquor Stores

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A controversy which began when the state ordered wholesale liquor dealers to stop selling liquor to two "tax-free" liquor stores at Blytheville Air Force Base has reached the Arkansas congressional delegation.

Rolla Fitch, director of the Alcohol Beverage Control Commission, said one congressman was starting work on the matter today. He would not name the congressman.

Fitch said he would not allow the base to operate tax-free liquor stores. He said he received a complaint Wednesday that the base is running out of liquor because of the order to wholesalers.

Fitch said military bases receive whisky free of state taxes for bars at their clubs, but the bases cannot open stores without paying state taxes Fitch said.

Tax-free liquor stores at the Blytheville base would cost the state $10,000 a month in revenue, Fitch said.

Texarkana Fights Back and Wins

By WICK TEMPLE

TEXARKANA (AP)—This is the story of a city that was knocked flat economically and got up fighting.

The city is actually two cities, Texarkana, Ark., and Texarkana, Tex. They are separated by the state line in the middle of State Line Ave.

Texarkana was booming until the government laid off 9,000 workers at the Red River Arsenal west of here at the end of the Korean War.

There was no way to absorb them into the economy, and Texarkana has been nine years recovering.

Today its slogan is "Texarkana On The Move" and new industries, plus increased hiring at the Day and Zimmerman plant and other developments are pushing employment and population up. With it is going business morale.

The core of believers kept talking and promoting during Texarkana's darkest days. They worked for establishment of Lake Texarkana which now provides a new water supply. They worked to repair streets on both sides of town. And they took advantage of Arkansas' industrial financing laws to lure industry.

Cooper Tire and Rubber Co. is locating an $11 million tire plant on the Arkansas side with an initial payroll of 400 people and ultimate employment of 600 to 700. Since Texarkana was designated an area of substantial unemployment it can get an Area Redevelopment Administration loan to cover 65 per cent of the cost.

North American Car Corp. of Chicago decided last week to make a $5 million expansion of its Texarkana plant which repairs and maintains railroad equipment. The addition will employ 250 initially in assembling new tank cars, and eventually will employ between 300 and 400. Voters will be asked to approve a $4 million bond issue under Arkansas Act 9.

The Baltech tool and precision machine company recently put 40 skilled craftsmen to work making specialized tools and dies for ballistic missile components for Redstone, Ala., Arsenal and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Houston.

Smith-Blair Corp., located in Texarkana a year ago as a small warehousing operation, recently began manufacturing specialized parts for the water and gas industries.

MAN ON THE SKEWBALD MARE

By NELSON C. NYE
XIV

Rafe scowled and tried to peer through the darkness for a better look at the man who called himself Brownwater Bill. If Rafe could only get hold of an end in this thing, get it straight in his head what all this was about.

"If you helped me, how come?" Rafe asked. "You don't know me from Adam."

"Have to be blind not to know you're a Bender. Sticks out all over you, and from what Lucy said."

"If you heard anything at all you heard Lucy say Rafe's dead!"

It was Bill's turn to frown.

"She had her reason," he said. "Man, you have to trust someone. Nobody can go it alone in this world. People, the most of 'em, ain't as bad as you think. You just got to give them a chance. Luce and me, we was fixin' to get married till Duke put his foot down."

"Duke?" Rafe snorted. "It wasn't for him to say."

"Looks like he's kinda dim in your memory. Duke aims to git what Duke wants—even if he has to bury half the gormamined county. He was powerful persuasive."

Some of what Brownwater Bill went on to say was admittedly guesswork but certain cold facts were pretty readily apparent.

Spangler, a holy terror with a gun, and about the hardest formation a man was like to bump into, had been caught redhanded running off Bender horses. He'd been seen in the process by Rafe's brother and the banker, Alph Chilton, which same had lost no time getting out of that neighborhood. From this day on you couldn't have lured Chilton out of town on a bet.

That Duke was still enjoying good health, and Spangler still bully-pussing round as the Bender range boss, was cause for considerable guarded talk and wonder, the more so since on the face of things the ranch was losing more stock than ever. It was indeed in dusty. The expansion opened 25 new jobs.

Gilliland says for every new job created in industry, another job is created in other fields such as in grocery stores and department stores.

Day and Zimmermann, which does shell loading and research work for the government, has hired between 1,500 and 1,600 new workers in the last 16 months.

Gilliland said, reaching a total employment of 2,300.

Red River Arsenal, now called Red River Army Depot, has had a static employment of between 4,500 and 4,800 since 1953, Gilliland said. Raytheon Corp. is doing the final assembly of the Hawk ground to air missile there, but the number of personnel is classified.

Most of the work at the depot is in repair and maintenance of Army vehicles, including those to handle missiles.

Gilliland said water and gas meter records indicate a population increase of 1,000 a year for Texarkana since the 1962 census, which showed a combined population of 50,000.

The town is situated in the middle of what boosters call the four states area. It includes northeast Texas southeast Oklahoma, northwest Louisiana and southwest Arkansas.

New Interstate Highway 30 at the northeast edge of Texarkana should facilitate movement of both tourist and business traffic.

Man-made Lake Texarkana, the largest inland lake solely in Texas, is a recreational attraction with water sports and camping.

rather desperate plight with bills piled on bills and none of the merchants, not even the bank, being able to collect a thin dime on account.

Brownwater figured there'd been a deal, and Rafe guessed there probably had. Though one might think, all things considered, it would have left Spangler crackling the whip. Such, by Brownwater's tell, was not the case. Duke was in the driver's seat.

"Ain't a lick of sense to it," the fat man declared. "Scowl 'n' growl till you're blue in the face, you can't make it stand up. But it does—it surely does! All the old hands are gone, all but me. Crew they got now is saltier'n Lot's wife, and with them kinda fellers it's cash on the barrelhead. I've thought maybe the stolen broncs are bein' sold over Duke's writin', but with all these lugs they got to pay 'an' feed where does Spangler come off? Now you tell me."

"I can't," Rafe scowled.

"Chafes a lot of wear off a feller's mental axle, but I can tell you how one part of it's worked."

Brownwater wheezed with a gusty sight. "Spangler wants Luce, has threatened to ventilate my carcass if I even so much as open my mouth to her. Duke has been more or less keepin' him in line by promising she'll be Spangler's wife the day Duke gits full title to Gourd 'n' Vine. He's got Luce believin' the first time she crosses him I'll be turned into a colander 'n' she'll be turned over to Spangler. It's enough to cramp rats but, believe me, it works."

The fat man hitched at his pants and spat gloomily. "Except we better be shakin' some dust."

Rafe had finished putting on his boots. Now he buckled on his spurs and knuckled the Bender horse after Brownwater Bill. He would sure like to know what had happened to Bathsheba. A man hates to give up the things he's been used to.

No kind of threat from any pip-squeak like Duke was going to pull much weight against a hard chunk like Spangler. The man would laugh in his face! It didn't look like, no matter how fierce an itch the guy might have for their sister, the promise of Luce, by itself, would get Spangler to sawing second fiddle for Duke.

There had to be something else, something more, something Spangler would want even worse to get his hands on and which, at least so far, had been kept out of his reach.

It was just beginning to get light enough to see by—everything fused in dreary shadings of gray—when they caught their first glimpse of the buildings.

Brownwater nodded his head. "Half a mile." He spat out his tobacco. "Shouldn't be no trouble unless somebody recognizes you. Duke left two of Spangler's uncles on tap in case the Ol' Man or Luce got minded to hunt greener pastures." He tugged his hat lower over his eyes. "I'll lead the way."

Rafe's jaws tightened. That whole business back yonder—every last lucky part of it, could have been played-acted for Rafe Bender's special benefit.

Was that tug Brownwater gave to his hat a signal?

criminal contempt for blocking the enrollment of a Negro at the previously all-white University of Mississippi last September.

The Justice Department made the request Friday, acting on a directive issued by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which will hear the case.

The New Orleans-based appellate court has already convicted Gov. Ross R. Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr., of civil contempt.

If the two officials are found guilty, it could mean jail terms and large fines. Penalties are almost unlimited in criminal contempt cases.

Eight of the circuit's nine judges participated in the deliberations leading to the civil contempt convictions of Barnett and Johnson. However, it has not been determined how many of the jurists will hear the criminal contempt case.

Civil contempt is aimed at enforcing compliance with a court directive and offers the defendant a chance to purge himself and perhaps escape any penalty. Criminal contempt involves punishment for an act already committed with no chance of gaining

Bobcats Edge Murfreesboro Go To Finals

By CARTER HARDAGE

Friday two Hope teams played in tournaments at Texarkana. Junior Boys were defeated 30-15 by Jefferson Avenue (Texarkana) in a consolation game. At Nashville the Senior boys edged a rough Murfreesboro 46-45.

As for the Bobkittens, Jefferson Avenue turned out to be tough. The Kittens behind 32-11 at half, came back to hold their own in the second half and the game ended in a 56-33 defeat for the Kittens with Ingram high in the locals with 9 points. Following in this order were Parris 7; Ray 6; Watkins 5; McGill 4; Ball with 2. Roberts scored 24 at Texarkana.

In the Nashville Tourname Hope managed to defeat Murfreesboro 46-45. The Cats held a 13-3 edge at the end of the first quarter, but trailed 23-21 at half. In the third quarter Hope led 32-29 and at the final buzzer they held a narrow margin, 46-45. Jones was high with 16 points. McElarty had 11, Russell and McVeigh had 6 each, Porterfield, Foster and Barnett rounded out the scoring with 2 each. Hope was high for Murfreesboro with 18.

forgiveness through future action. Barnett twice stopped the Negro, James H. Meredith, from rolling at Ole Miss. Johnson turned him back once.

Meredith was finally enrolled at Ole Miss on Oct. 1—the day after a night of rioting which killed persons and injured scores.

The circuit court enjoined Barnett and Johnson from interfering with Meredith's enrollment and three days before the Negro enrolled at Ole Miss the governor was found guilty of civil contempt.

The court last month directed the Justice Department to institute the criminal contempt proceedings.

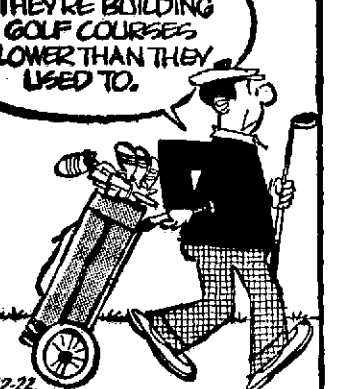

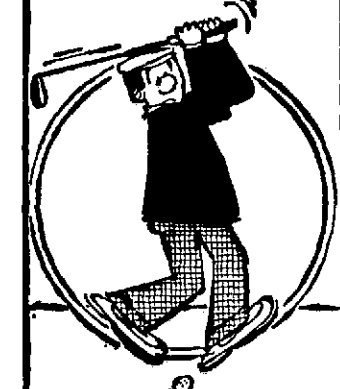

Meanwhile, Dr. Charles F. H. Woodson provost of the University of Mississippi, has resigned, was disclosed Friday night. Reason for the resignation was given but Chancellor J. D. Williams said Haywood had discussed his action with him and that joint statement would be issued today.

Is The Lord Our God

— on Earth Peace

...and Happy Birthday, to our Lord.
It is traditional but more significant than any birthday in human history.
There is more to Christmas than tinsel and glittering gifts. On that day, the word of God became flesh and dwelt among us. Love literally came down at Christmas... a new birth to cheer and redeem. It is the birthday of the greatest teacher—the sublimest preacher—the "Good Shepherd," the "Son of God," the "Saviour of Men."
Then, let us not disgrace this Holy Day, Christ's Birthday, through sinful celebration or 'cheap'
